Workshop Details:

This comprehensive 5 day training will provide insight into current trauma, attachment, and neuroscience research at a deeper / integrative level ensuring an understanding of critical information and best practice strategies for working with trauma.

Day 1 you will learn how trauma at different ages impacts patients a neurological, emotional and physiological level. This information will allow you to make connections to later life behaviours and health outcomes to create treatment plans that promote targeted integration.

Day 2 will focus on clinical applications. Through this training participants will learn how to make historical connections, complete initial assessments, engage in trauma processing, and formulate trauma-informed treatment planning. Participants will learn about various phase-based treatments for complex trauma and will review best practice and evidence-based approaches through an experiential format. This training will also help you to enhance your clinical skills and learn how you can add trauma regulation and attachment healing strategies to your repertoire.

Part 2 Trauma Processing Experiential and Applied Practice will focus on putting our Integrative Trauma and Attachment Treatment Model (ITATM) into practice. A live demo will be provided and participants will be guided through trauma processing as both the clinician and the client. Days 4 & 5 allow for additional demonstrations and continued practice of the model with enhanced strategies for working with various aspects of complex trauma.

What People Are Saying About Our Trainings and Certification Program

*More feedback is available on our website

Day 1 Foundations of Trauma ~ Most Valuable Aspect:

- Discussion of the bilateral/integrative approach and importance of engaging both hemispheres of the brain in trauma processing.
- I found the conversation about the role and purpose of grounding techniques helpful and insightful. I enjoyed the smaller size group and approachability of the instructor.
- Oh gosh, there was SO much value in everything. I absolutely loved getting deeper into attachment and dysregulation through a trauma lens. There were many times I was nodding my head as Lori spoke of how trauma responses are normal for the situation and how often they are misinterpreted or misdiagnosed or misunderstood as something else.
- Lori is such a captivating speaker and presenter. I very much felt I could be present and attuned when she was talking.
- Getting a deeper understanding of trauma, where it stems from how it affects the brain and how people process and cope (make patterns) due to this. Thanks so much Lori!! I've really enjoyed day 1!!
- The most valuable part of today's teaching was helping me to locate this work. Understanding concepts and foundations of the work allowed me to see how it could be applied in my context. As a trauma survivor myself, I could hold the information "out" from myself, but begin to thaw toward how I could benefit from the work myself. I REALLY enjoy Lori's style.

Day 2 Phase Based Clinical Applications ~ Most Valuable Aspect:

- The demo videos were helpful. It was helpful to not just be shown techniques but to understand how the techniques can be applied most beneficially in working with trauma processing.
- The approach to Trauma and the trauma processing piece. I appreciate Lori shared her great experience and knowledge in trauma. I learn so much about how to better work with clients going through trauma. Thanks!!
- Different creative approaches/activities that can be used to work with the client's intensity.
- How fast the movement through the trauma can take place.
- The brief demos are extremely helpful and informative. I am learning that we do not need to use 50 minutes of our session time with our clients to use certain techniques like grounding or even exploring the details of the trauma, but that sometimes this can be done in less than 10 minutes and that we don't actually need all of the details of our client's trauma. I love how adaptive and creative this model is considering clients respond to different things and we know that therapeutic approaches are not "one-size-fits-all". During the presentation, I was able to differentiate between challenging a client's feelings and challenging the activation of threat.
- I really liked how the case examples and the how instead of just looking at research papers and technical jargon. I love the application and examples!
- New tools and exercises; the multitude of ways to utilize art throughout process. This was excellent. Thank you so much.
- Great integration of theory and clinical practice

What People Are Saying About Our Trainings and Certification Program

General Feedback:

Christine - Attended the 5 day trauma and attachment certification training and truly loved every minute. the information and psycho education was very helpful and the live demos of clinical process and experiential/role play was extremely powerful and helpful in integrating the new information and trauma processing. Thank you again Lori and the ATTCH team, Sue, and Lisa. A very healing and inspiring experience.

Danielle, Toronto, Ontario: "I'm currently completing my certified trauma integration practitioner training through ATTCH. Lori Gill, the director, is an incredibly gifted teacher. Her knowledge, intelligence, integrity, and compassion make her a rare and very bright light in the industry. I have been blown away by what I've learned! If you're interested in learning the latest and most effective trauma therapies, I recommend their courses and programs without hesitation!"

Thanks Lori! Jennifer, NL - Very informative, excellent take away and a wonderful presenter.

Shannon Vanderveen, St.Anns - Really grateful for this learning opportunity, networking with others and taking time to grow as a young student! Thank you!!!

Valerie, Placentio NL - What an amazing week. I have learned so much for both myself and the children + youth i serve. i am very grateful for this experience. Thank you!

Seema, Ontario - Thank you so much for your warm and engaging presence and sharing your expansive knowledge with us. This training has been amazing, I have learned so much as a practitioner and about myself. This lens has truly shifted the way i understand those I serve and hope to support. It feels so right. Thank you so much for the opportunity to do the live demo. It was so experiential and different than I've ever experienced. Thank you for creating a space and presence to make me feel comfortable enough to try and engage in it. All the best.

Carol Cowan, St. Catharines, Ontario - The Trauma and Attachment Certification provided by Lori Gill is essential to any practitioner in the field today. The solid foundation and framework provided in the certification is fundamental to understanding many of our clients struggles in their lives today. The certification also provides great tools and techniques that can be used with our clients to provide the profound levels of healing that are required. The conference itself is also a wonderful opportunity to network with other professionals in the field. I look forward to the conference every year and have used the skills and knowledge gained almost daily in my social work practice.
