Lori Gill, MA, CTS
lori@attch.org

Lori Gill, founder and clinical director at the Attachment and Trauma Treatment Centre for Healing, is a Registered Psychotherapist, Certified Trauma Specialist (CTS), trainer, Consultant Supervisor for the National Institute for Trauma and Loss in Children (TLC), and former psychology professor with 18+ years of experience working with children, youth and adults in various professional settings. Her diverse background has provided her a wealth of skills in the areas of trauma, attachment, mental health, compassion fatigue prevention, addictions, eating disorders, wellness and education. Lori combines her professional experience with her love for learning, resulting in trainings which are a rich culmination of research, evidence-based and best-practice treatment models, and techniques to bring you leading edge, practical and integrative trainings. Lori has had the honour of presenting for many Indigenous-based practitioners, agencies and communities, and this is an area of passion for her due to the pervasiveness of the trauma inflicted upon Indigenous peoples.

Lori is honoured to have received an Award of Excellence in 2014 for her contributions to the trauma field and to have been named as an expert witness in the areas of trauma, attachment, and reconciliation therapy.

Lori is an engaging and sought after presenter and consultant. She provides consultations and facilitates a variety of trainings across Canada and the United States, helping agencies and professionals become trauma-informed and to deliver trauma-specific treatment. Contact us today to discuss your needs and to set up a customized training for you and your organization.

Purpose: To provide insight into current trauma, attachment, and neuroscience research ensuring an understanding of critical information and best practice strategies. This training will also provide an introduction to creating trauma-informed environments.
